I have been much moved at observing the zest which John Hollander, his wife Anne Loesser Hollander (my daughter), and their friend Stephen Kitay Orgel put into the making of this book’s index. I flatter myself that intellectual sympathy, more than family feeling, animated those young people in their achievement, invaluable to me. My editor Henry W. Simon is the one who has kept me going, morally speaking, all these years. His quiet understanding patience seemed to imply a belief in me that I felt obligated to live up to.

It is impossible to convey the flavor of my grateful feelings toward my wife Jean Bassett Loesser, who stood by me loyally through the seven years during which I was pregnant with this work, and during which I suffered the anxieties, the tantrums, and the spells of morning sickness appropriate to that condition.
